

MUSEUM STUDIES

INDIVIDUALIZED MAJOR

This individualized major is designed by combining two major disciplines, i.e. Art History and History/Anthropology, and adding other courses that will prepare the student for graduate studies in Museum and Digital Collection Studies.

Besides coursework, the student will acquire hands-on experience by working closely with the Art gallery director and by conducting an internship. As a capstone course, the student will design and put together an exhibit whether on site or online. The student will focus on at least one area (American, Latin American, Islam, Middle East, Asia, Gender, etc.) and one time period.

NOTE: This description and list of courses are intended as an example of what an individualized major in Museum Studies could be. Actual description and courses to be determined by the student and faculty advisors.

Art & History 37 Credits Total

22 credits in Art

Sample Courses:

ART 211 Intro to Art History
ART 345 Museums & Exhibitions

15 credits in History

Sample Courses:

HIS 385 Public History
HIS 388 Digital Windham

Art & Anthropology 37 Credits Total

22 credits in Art

Sample Courses:

ART 211 Intro to Art History
ART 345 Museums & Exhibitions

15 credits in Anthropology

Sample Courses:

ANT 301 Anthro Theory
ANT 309 Anthro Research Methods

For more information:

