NOTE: In 1991, the NCAA Division III re-aligned its regions, dividing the Northeast Region (New England and New York) into two regions: New York and New England. At that time, the NCAA Division III all-New England Region and New England Intercollegiate Baseball Association (NEIBA) teams became one in the same. Thus, beginning in 1991, players named to the NCAA Division III all-New England Region/all-NEIBA team have been listed under the heading of "All-Region Honor Roll" in this section. Since 1975, players chosen to that all-star team's first team have been eligible to compete in the annual NEIBA All-Star Game, which features a combined Division II-III team against Division I all-stars. Beginning with the 2001 all-star game, only seniors were eligible to compete.
