Related Honor Societies

Delta Mu Delta

Each year selected students are honored for distinguished academic achievement by membership in the Delta Omega Chapter of Delta Mu Delta, the National Honor Society for Accounting, Business Administration, Business Information Systems, and Finance students. Membership in Delta Mu Delta is an honor indicative of “earnest, intelligent purpose and rewarding achievement”, the goals of the honor society.

Upsilon Pi Epsilon

Students are selected each year for their distinguished academic achievement in the field of Business Information Systems along with those from Computer Science for membership into the Alpha Connecticut Chapter of Upsilon Pi Epsilon, the International Honor Society for Computing and Information Disciplines.

Alpha Mu Alpha

Each year selected Marketing students are honored for their distinguished academic achievement by membership into Alpha Mu Alpha, National Marketing Honorary Society, sponsored by the American Marketing Association. Students eligible for Alpha Mu Alpha are recognized for their outstanding scholastic achievement in the field of Marketing.

University Honors Program

Honors courses are frequently team-taught and involve off campus experiences, and most Honors courses satisfy requirements in the University’s Liberal Arts Core (LAC). The goal of the Honors Program is to provide academically talented and venturesome students with an intellectually stimulating alternate course of study, culminating in the completion of an Honors Thesis reflective of quality undergraduate scholarship. Small classes, interdisciplinary topics, and professors dedicated to teaching create an atmosphere conducive to the open discussion of ideas and active learning. The Honors Thesis requirement provides an opportunity for students to work independently under the oversight of a faculty mentor.
