James Janko to Read at Eastern

Willimantic, Conn. – Two-time nominee for the Pushcart Prize James Janko, author of Buffalo Boy and Geronimo, will read from his novel at Eastern Connecticut State University tomorrow, Nov. 14, 2006. The book was recently published by Willimantic's Curbstone Press and is his first full-length work. The reading will take place in Shafer Hall's Akus Gallery at 4 p.m. and is free and open to the public.

Janko, who was a medic during the Vietnam War, focused his studies on Conservation of Natural Resources at the University of California at Berkeley. He now teaches English as a Second Language and Native Language Literacy at City College in San Francisco. He lives with his wife Uong Chanpidor in Oakland.
