

"China: Memoirs of our Future" Discover a fresh perspective on an ancient country from twenty-two Eastern Connecticut State University students. Through fascinating images, diary entries and interviews, they share insights that see beyond differences between American and Chinese students and uncover the urgent, global challenge that their generation must face and solve together.