HISTORY DEPARTMENT:
ADVICEMENT NEWSLETTER
Spring 2014

Fall 2014 Courses for Majors:

HIS 221 Native American History - Tucker
HIS 250 History of New England – Tucker
HIS 275 Intro to East Asian History – Davis
HIS 305 Antebellum America 1828-1860 – Tucker
HIS 316 United States After WWII – Kirchmann
HIS 329 Intro Hist East Central Europe – Clark
HIS 330 Tudor Stuart England – Ostwald
HIS 334 Early Middle Ages – Frye
HIS 338 The Holocaust – Higginbotham
HIS 351 Europe and The Great War – Higginbotham
HIS 365 Spec. Topics: Women in Latin America-Meznar
HIS 385 Intro to Public History – Staff
HIS 400 Seminar in American History – Kirchmann
HIS 406 Seminar in European History – Higginbotham
HIS 407 Seminar in World History – Davis

Advisement Starts March 3rd: Be sure to make an appointment with your advisor before your registration date. The department does not provide advisement codes by e-mail and the office staff will not give out advisement codes; so you need to see your advisor. If you are uncertain who your advisor is or if you don’t have a history advisor, you should see Ms. Cheverie in the History Office: cheveriea@easternct.edu

Register on-time! We cannot guarantee seats in classes for students who register late. If you have holds on your account, check with the Bursar’s office about getting a temporary pass so that you can register.

Registration Start Dates:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Class</th>
<th>Dates</th>
<th>Credit Hours</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Seniors</td>
<td>March 10</td>
<td>90.00 and higher</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Juniors</td>
<td>March 24</td>
<td>60.00 - 89.99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sophomore</td>
<td>March 31</td>
<td>30.00 - 59.99</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Freshmen</td>
<td>April 14</td>
<td>00.00 - 29.99</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Summer Session 2014

HIS 116 03 Intro Modern World History- Morrissey
HIS 120 Early Amer. 1607 to 1877 – Eves
HIS 121 Recent Amer. 1877-Present – DeBrincat
HIS 230 01 Western Civ Before 1500 – Calise
HIS 231 02 Western Civ Since 1500 – Clark
HIS 310 07 Great Issues: Survey Amer Hist – Carenen

Fall 2014 Seminars

HIS 400 Seminar in American History – Kirchmann
New England, and specifically Connecticut, received a large portion of the immigration streams in different periods of history. In this course we will study the immigrant experience in Connecticut in the 19th and 20th centuries; settlement patterns of different ethnic groups; role of religion, labor, and economic forces in the immigrant communities; gender and age-specific experiences; as well as succession of immigration waves.
HIS 406 Britain at War, 1890-1939 – Higginbotham
This seminar (in the centennial year of the beginning of World War I) will look at British involvement in the events leading up to World War I, the impact of the war on Britain, and the connection between war and postwar developments. Students can work on topics related to foreign policy, wartime politics, rationing, attitudes toward Germany, women's involvement, pacifism, empire, and a variety of other topics related to this important period. Each student will develop a topic and complete a research paper based on analysis of primary sources.

HIS 407 Imperialism and its Enemies in World History - Davis
Students in this seminar will examine varieties of imperialism and diverse responses to imperialism during the nineteenth century and complete a research project. Topics include the French Empire in Africa, American colonial rule in the Philippines, the Dutch East Indies and postcolonial Indonesia, challenges to the British Raj in South Asia, Japanese rule in Korea, Bolivarian nationalism, French Indochina, and the Belgian Congo Free State.

Please note that in order to register for a seminar, you need to have successfully completed HIS 200 and have 18 credits in history, including at least three courses on the 3xx level or higher.

SPRING 2015 SEMINARS:
HIS 400 American History
HIS 406 Seminar in European History - Dr. Frye

NEW COURSE DESCRIPTIONS
HIS 365 Special Topics: Women in Latin America – Dr. Meznar
From the first arrival of Europeans in the Americas, women have helped to shape complex and often surprisingly diverse societies in Latin America. This course will focus on the intersection of gender relations and power as we examine the cultural and political roles of women of different social and racial backgrounds in the region.

American Studies
The History major has now a concentration in American Studies. History with concentration in American Studies provides options to diversify the study of American society and culture by choosing a variety of courses in U.S. history and literature, art, political science, sociology, and other disciplines that study the United States in its broadest aspects. Please see the History Department website for the requirements, a list of electives, and other information about American Studies.

Department News
If you are interested in an internship, please check out the information on the History Department website and see Dr. Carenen or Dr. Kirchmann (Windham Textile and History Museum only) for more details.

Dr. Carenen will be on sabbatical Fall 2014.

Upcoming Events
Reception for Graduating Seniors: Wednesday, April 30, 2014 3-4 p.m. Webb Hall 358.

Arts & Sciences Research Conference – Saturday, April 12, 2014

Congratulations to Zachary Marrotte!

History major Zachary Marotte presented a paper at the Fourth Annual Northeast Regional Undergraduate Research Conference at the Massachusetts College of Liberal Arts (MCLA), sponsored by the Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COPLAC) in October, 2013. Zach is a senior history major from Middlebury, Connecticut. His postgraduate plans are to pursue graduate study in Early Modern European history and to obtain employment in the State Department or Department of Defense. Zach's paper was entitled “The Struggle to Break with the Ancients: The English Army's gradual adoption of modern military theory, 1660-1728,” and he prepared it under the direction of Dr. Jamel Ostwald.