  - The difference between an Housing FYI and a Judicial Incident
  - How to use Maxient
  - How to write an incident report
During the Incident

What information do you need to collect?
Handling Incidents: What to take note of

- Handling an incident or any policy violation can be difficult, however, there are a few pieces of information every RA should collect during an incident
  - Who?
  - What?
  - When?
  - Where?
  - Why?
Who?

- The names and student ID numbers of all students present
- Name, address, and date of birth for non-students (ask for their license)
- Names of responding officers
- Responding Hall Director (typically the HD on duty)
What?

- What drew you to the room?
- What policy violations were present?
- What type and how many alcohol containers were present?
- Type and quantity of any drugs present?
- Were there any other policy violations?
When?

- When an incident occurs may seem like an easy thing to figure out, however, it is a common mistake for many Resident Assistants when entering incident reports.
- Before you submit any report, make sure the date and time of the incident are entered correctly in Maxient.
- Incidents often occur near midnight, which means that by the time the incident is over, the default date that appears in Maxient is the next day.
- BE SURE TO CHECK DATES AND TIMES AS THIS IS VITAL INFORMATION.
Where?

- Where did the incident take place?
  - If it took place in a resident’s room, be sure to indicate the room number in your incident report
  - If it took place in a suite, please be sure to indicate which room in the suite the incident occurred and the suite number
  - It is important that the incident report include the hall in which the incident occurred as well as the specific location within, or outside of the hall.
Why?

- Why is the behavior that students are engaging in a violation of Housing Policy?
- Why did you approach the room/what drew it to your attention?
- Why did residents approach you about the incident? (If applicable)
How to Write an Incident Report

▪ Incidents should always be written in the third person
  ▪ “Resident Assistant Nathan Guarino.”
  ▪ The first time you mention someone, use their title (Resident, Guest, Resident Assistant, Hall Director, Officer, etc.) and their first and last name
    ▪ Refer to them afterwards using their title and their last name

▪ The incident report should include information about the who, what, when, where and why.

▪ Information in incident reports should be as detailed as possible
  ▪ Were residents compliant?
  ▪ Did they have questions?
  ▪ Number and type of violations
After the Incident

What type of report do you enter?
Housing FYI or Judicial Incident?

- An FYI should be submitted for any notable events:
  - Student in distress
  - Damage/maintenance concerns
  - Roommate conflicts
  - Adjustment problems
  - Unresolved incidents
  - Suspicion of any violation of Housing Policy

- An incident report should be submitted for any incident that violates the law, or any Student Code of Conduct policies:
  - Presence/possession of alcohol
  - Presence/possession of drugs
  - Domestic violence
  - Sexual Assault
  - Medical Transport
Housing Warning Letters

- Warning letters are issued to any resident who has violated housing policy
  - Possession of prohibited items
  - Violation of quiet hours
  - Violation of guest policy
  - Missing a mandatory meeting without an excuse in email
