2. Announcements / Reports

Richard Jones-Bamman reported on the meeting of the First Year Program Committee (FYPC). The FYPC is seeking to liberalize the rule that all clusters include courses in the LAC. LAPC members concurred that the definition of clusters should be expanded for a variety of reasons. The LAC Tier I courses contain only 27-28 credits as contrasted with 43 credits in GER categories eligible for cluster classes. As the purpose of the FYP is to help students understand the relationships across disciplines and understand multiple ways of thinking and knowing, this would be best achieved through clusters that share thematic content. The LAC shares these goals. The LAPC agreed with the approach of the FYP that clusters could be constructed with at least one LAC Tier I class.
