When an organization has specific eligibility requirements (must be an active member, must have a specific major, must have a minimum number of credits and/or grade point average) and the organization does not utilize a nominating committee, it should not have nominations and elections at the same meeting. There must be adequate time for the organization to verify a candidate’s eligibility for office.

Organizations should provide for a transition period whereby newly elected officers can work closely with current Officers so that there is an orderly transfer of authority as well as official documents and records of the organization.
The date of elections oftentimes proves to be troublesome. An organization may wish to include in its constitution provisions that allow it to change the date of elections and/or postpone elections for just cause.

ARTICLE VIII - VACANCIES

Section 1 In the event of the vacancy of the office of President, the duties will be carried out by the Vice-President. The office of Vice-President will be offered to the Secretary and/or Treasurer. Section 1 Any officer is subject to impeachment and /or recall and removal from the office for failing to fulfill his/her constitutional responsibilities.

Section 4  If voting results in a tie a re-vote will take place with the President casting a vote.

Article XI - Amendments

Section 1  Amendments to this constitution must be approved by a 2/3 majority of the voting membership present.

Making a change to the constitution is called amending the constitution. An amendment is an isolated change. There may be a single amendment or there may be several amendments scattered throughout the document that need to be changed. When extensive changes need to be made in many areas of the constitution it is called a revision.

Section 2  Proposed amendments to the constitution shall be automatically tabled until the next scheduled meeting of the organization.

Section 3  Prior written notice of the proposed change(s) and the date of the meeting at which the proposed change(s) shall be voted on shall be provided to all members of the organization.

Article XII - Parliamentary Authority

Robert’s Rule of Order, Newly Revised shall act as the Parliamentary authority for all meetings of the club.

Rules of order are formally adopted written rules of parliamentary procedure that relate to the orderly transaction of business in meetings and the duties of officers in the transaction of business. They are found in the parliamentary authority adopted by the organization.

Rules of order include the order of business to be followed by an organization. The typical order of business for an organization is: a call to order, roll call, reading and approval of minutes, report of officers, report of boards, report of standing and/or special committees, unfinished business, and adjournment. Depending on the organization, it may also include an invocation of formal ceremony, reading of correspondence, announcements, good of the order, a program or speaker.

When rules of order in the parliamentary authority adopted by the organization do not meet the needs of the organization, the organization can adopt special rules of order that then supersede rules on the same subject.

Article XIII - Ratification

An organization’s first or original constitution only requires a majority vote of the members in order to be approved.

This constitution must be ratified by a majority vote at a regular meeting and approved by the Student Government Association Budget and Management Committee.
