

Voya Internship and Career Position Info Session

Representatives from Voya Financial joined Eastern Business Information Systems students and AITP Student Chapter members on Wednesday, February 13th during University Hour for an informational session on internships and career positions at Voya. Voya Financial is a financial, retirement, investment and insurance company with an office in Windsor, Connecticut, with operations worldwide.

This informational session began with a presentation about Voya as a company, their goals, their purpose and what they look for in interns and employees. During this presentation students enjoyed pizza and soda. Voya is currently offering paid IT internships in data management and enterprise architecture, corporate systems, quality and vendor management, infrastructure services, retirement services, digital, security services and employee benefits. In their retirement technology field, Voya uses COBOL, Java, Linux, .NET and more. The representatives stressed that they are currently looking for interns who know COBOL, an old but useful programming language, as well as Business Systems Analysts interns. The representatives brought out that as a company, Voya, uses many databases including Oracle, DB2 and Sybase.

Voya stressed that new positions are constantly being added to their website so the time to apply is now. This info session taught BIS, CS and business students that there are many open positions in business-technical fields in the eastern Connecticut region.
