Host: Hello and welcome to this segment, fostering trusting relationships. My name is Maria Boykin, and I will be your host. Let's begin by taking a look at our objectives for this segment. First, we'll describe why trusting, supportive relationships are important in children's development. We'll identify ways to show warmth using physical and non-physical interactions. We'll describe ways to respond to children in authentic ways. And finally, we'll discuss the benefits of assigning a special attachment caregiver to each child. Let's get started.
